

TELUS Best Dissertation Prize for 2019

This letter certifies that the following dissertation was awarded the best TELUS Dissertation Prize for 2019, and received a distinction for the degree overall:

Graduate: Ndrew Allmark
Dissertation: A systematic scoping review of evidence pertaining to L2 word recognition among L1 readers of Arabic and its implications for the validity of vowel blindness

About the M.Sc. TELUS

The M.Sc. in Teaching English Language in University Settings is a Master's degree in applied linguistics for TESOL (Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages), which specializes in higher education.

As part of the degree, all students undertake a large research project, which culminates in a 20,000-word research dissertation.

In the graduating year of 2019, Mr. Ndrew Allmark received the award of best TELUS dissertation, having received the highest dissertation grade of his cohort.

Heath Rose (BA, M.Ed, Ph.D)
M.Sc. TELUS Course Director
& Associate Professor
The Department of Education